Get Permits for Three More Homes

Builders Get Priority Orders—New Construction Three Times Last Year's

Permits for the construction of three more small new homes have been issued by Building Inspector William Lees on the strength of priority orders recently issued by government agencies. One went to a defense plant worker, two to persons who came here for their health and could find no living quarters. Several such permits have been issued in recent months, boosting the total for new building to $26,402 for the first six months of 1944, as against $8043 for the corresponding period of last year. The total was upped appreciably by far-sighted townfolk who, realizing the manpower situation, are having their roofs repaired now instead of waiting until the winter rains arrive.

D. R. Doner of Detroit, Mich., presented letters from two physicians and a minister to secure his permit for a new, very small dwelling at 414 E. Highland ave. T. N. LaFluer is building a home the cost of which is limited to $2700 at 601 E. Grand View ave. He is a defense worker now residing in Monrovia. Andrew Hedblom, here for his health, is building a home the materials for which must cost not to exceed $2500 according to his priority.

Other permits issued for minor changes and repairs were as follows: M. A. DeTemple, 390 W. Sierra Madre blvd., re-roofing, $350; Mrs. Earl Topping, 30 Vista Circle dr., re-roofing, $40; Thomas W. Neale, 66 W. Sierra Madre blvd., alter store, $200; L. E. Morgan, 494 N. Auburn, build garage, $250; L. M. Hansen, 257 N. Baldwin ave., alter front porch, $200; S. Guston Nelson, 2201 Santa Anita dr., add room over garage, $1500; E. E. Hitchcock, 165 E. Sierra Madre blvd., re-roofing, $2616; Ethel Davis, 52 W. Sierra Madre blvd., roof porch, $25; J. E. Gossard, 625 W. Mariposa ave., add to accessory building, $80; C. Baetz, 68 W. Grand View ave., alter porch, $150; C. A. Pounce, 40 E. Laurel ave., repair roof, $167; R. M. Thayer, 646 W. Highland ave., re-roof, $300; W. E. Johnston, 595 Aescia st., build two-car garage, $200; Charlotte Gahan, 308 N. Grove st., repair house, $200; H. V. Maule, 67 W. Laurel ave., re-roof, $150; A. E. Groth, 136 E. Highland ave., repair house, $300; R. E. Summers, 671 W. Orange Grove ave., alter garage, $200.

Congregational Church School will Open Next Monday

The annual vacation church school of the Congregational Church opens Monday, July 24, and will continue every week day except Saturday until Friday, August 4. Classes from kindergarten through the eighth grade will begin at 9:30 and continue until 11:30 a.m.

Rev. Frederic Groetsma, who will be in charge, will be assisted by an able corps of teachers. There will be no tuition, and every child is welcome. The theme of the session is to be that of the International Council of Religious Education: "The American Indians."

Mr. Groetsma has an unusual collection of pictures and other visual material on hand, and is looking forward to an interesting time.

SOLD!

Dot Stanger, who presides over the stock of "this and that" at Bowman's store, is satisfied she made a good investment when she used a classified ad in the Sierra Madre News to sell her house. "I had many inquiries and sold the house after the second insertion," she said.

GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION RECALLS IOWA SCENE OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bever of 187 Lowell ave. have a yard full of exquisite flowers, while in the back are a flock of loquacious chickens, recalling to the minds of this estimable couple their first farm in Centerville, Ia., where Mr. Bever took his bride upon their marriage just 50 years ago last Wednesday, July 12.

To share their happiness with their friends and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bever allowed their daughter, Mrs. Howard of 97 S. Hermosa ave., to give a reception for them at the Howard home on Sunday, July 16. Preceding the reception Mrs. Howard served a dinner to the family—three sons and their families. At the table were P. J. Bever and wife of Arcadia, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bever of Bell Gardens, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bever of Rosemead with their children.

When the 40 or more guests began to arrive, Mrs. Herbert Howard of 140 S. Hermosa ave.,

WOMAN BADLY BURNED WHEN JARS OF CANNED FRUIT EXPLODE, WRECKING HOME

Victim, Mrs. E. G. Everett, Hopes Other Women will Profit by Her Experience

Mrs. E. G. Everett of 298 W. Highland ave. hopes painful burns about the face, arms, legs and body she received on Saturday while trying to do a good turn for a neighbor will serve as a warning to other women planning to can fruit and the products of their victory gardens.

Fruit on a neighbor's apricot tree was ripening and spoiling in the neighbor's absence on vacation. So Mrs. Everett decided to preserve it for her. She used the oven method, leaving one and one-half inches of space at the top of the tightly sealed jars for expansion under heat.

At the indicated time Mrs. Everett took the eight jars from the oven, removing them to the drain-board of the sink. The weather was cool. The sudden change in temperature caused the jars to explode, showering Mrs. Everett with the boiling fruit and scattering it over an area of more than 25 feet, including walls and ceilings.

Neighbors, hearing the report of the explosion, were at the door at once to offer help, and Capt. Everett declares if it had not been for their gracious aid the entire kitchen, dinette and service porch would have needed a new coat of plaster, for the glass was driven into the enameled surface of the wall so that it had to be dug out. Window glass was broken, electric light bulbs were shattered, the refrigerator was coated, and the room actually dripped apricots.

While the captain and his gracious wife would not have it given again, they feel that it was almost worth the trouble and pain, since Mrs. Everett fortunately escaped serious injuries from flying glass, to find out

Cpl. Meissen is Killed on Saipan

Another Sierra Madre Boy Lost When Marines Stormed the Beaches

Another Sierra Madre Marine, Corporal Nicholas Meissen, formerly of 89 E. Alegria ave., was reported killed in action in the invasion of Saipan. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Meissen, now residing in Downey, and his sister, Mrs. Robert Corcoran of 308 Adams st., received no information other than that he had been reported killed.

No date was given in the telegram that came here, but he was a member of the battalion from which many casualties were reported when the first wave of Marines stormed the Saipan beaches and it is assumed that he lost his life at about the same time as Cpl. Wesley J. Perry, also of Sierra Madre.

Cpl. Meissen joined the Marines last December 9 and received most of his training at Camp Pendleton, coming to Sierra Madre on his leaves. His last visit here was for the Christmas holidays. His family did not know how soon after that he went overseas. The last letter received from him was dated May 6 in which he spoke of his approaching birthday on June 3. Shortly before this letter was written he had returned to active duty after having been hospitalized by a knee injury received in a previous battle.

From information available to the family, he was serving as a range finder and the only weapon he was able to carry was the regulation Marine "stick" or club, because of the instruments he packed about. He was six feet three inches tall and weighed 220 pounds when he was home for his last visit, so that he was a good target for Jap marksmen.

grand-daughter of the honored couple, presided at the guest book, while a life-long friend of the family, Mrs. Oma Lowdick of San Francisco, served at the punch-bowl. One feature of the afternoon which greatly touched the hearts of the celebrating couple was the gracious singing of an appropriate song by young George Tyree of 140 S. Hermosa ave.

Mrs. Bever was dressed in a blue and rose print, and looked the part of happy, contented wifehood, while Mr. Bever when asked how the successful journey had been so far prolonged replied that it was "through hard work and a good cook."

Another interesting feature of the affair was the presence of a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Bever just after their marriage, and a second taken the week of the celebration—just 50 years apart, records of a life of harmonious living.

what perfectly grand people their neighbors are. Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Polgren of 263 W. Highland ave., Mrs. Dora Percake of 277 W. Highland ave. and Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Keyser of 277 1/2 W. Highland were the commando forces who took over, and routed the apricot invasion while Capt. Everett took the casualty to the doctor.

Tough Fight Ahead to Lick Tokyo

Lieut. Comdr. Carter Home from Guadalcanal Says Japs Must be Killed

LIEUT. COMMANDER CARTER

Lieut. Commander Paul N. Carter is hustling around up in San Francisco hunting living accommodations for himself and family. He isn't going back to the Southwest Pacific where he was stationed for 18 months—at least not for a year or so. When he reported back for duty after his first furlough since February, 1943, he was told he would remain in the States for awhile—that he would be attached to the office of the director of the port in the Bay City. When he located the necessary accommodations Mrs. Carter and the children will move north from their present quarters in San Pedro.

When he returned to the States after his long absence Carter was amazed to see the headway inflation had made—the increase in wages and the resultant boost in the cost of living. Men battling the Japs back toward Tokyo down in the Pacific have no idea of conditions at home. Carter says and are startled when they get back here and learn the situation.

Also, in Carter's opinion, they are much less concerned than are the politicians here at home over whether and under what system they will vote at the November election. Men in both the Army and Navy know they are not well informed over homefront political conditions. They are kept too busy and have too little means of getting the necessary information to get much excited over politics.

War in the South Pacific is about over, Carter thinks. American supply bases are constantly being moved closer and closer to Japan following each island invasion and victory. The battlefront has moved well into the Central Pacific.

The former city councilman and Navy officer spent part of his furlough at his home here with his family. Then he went to the Mountain Trail home being away on their vacation. They had intended going to some mountain resort but he said no place could have been quite as restful as Sierra Madre, so they remained here until it became necessary for him to move on to San Francisco.

While here he related that he received notice of his promotion to the rank of lieutenant commander and of his furlough on the same day. "What an eventful day," he said, "40 Roman holidays all in one."

His promotion to lieutenant came while he was stationed at Guadalcanal as ship dispatcher and assistant operations officer, following the Georgia-Munda battles in which Carter participated. It was the first large-scale amphibious operation after the capture of Guadalcanal. The action at Munda brought him the combat pin and evidently had much to do with his promotion.

Americans who think the Japs are licked do not know their Japs, Carter says. He believes it will be a long, hard battle. "They are a tough foe," he says, "and the only way you can lick them is to kill them. They are scattered over a very wide area and it is going to take a long time to kill enough of them to bring final victory."

Two Clans Gather for Reunion Here

There is a gathering of the J. O. Smith clan at the family home at 609 W. Sierra Madre blvd. this week. L. Ben R. Smith of Ft. Campbell, Ky.; Pfc. Bruce Smith of Ft. George Washington and his wife; Dr. Graeme C. Smith of Portland, Ore., his wife and seven-year-old Bobbie and 15-month-old Dorothy Patricia; Ferris Smith of Glendale, and Merrill Smith of Los Angeles.

An extra special family event took place at the F. D. R. Moore home at 689 W. Sierra Madre blvd. on Thursday evening, July 13. The guests were Dr. Graeme C. Smith and wife (the former Margaret Moore) and two children, Bobbie and Dorothy Patricia, from Portland, Ore., and Rev. Dwight Poundstone and wife (the former Kathleen Moore) and two children, Donnie and Frances, of Los Angeles.

Lt. (jg) John Carver Baker, formerly of Sierra Madre, is now at the U. S. Navy Basic Project at Annapolis, Md.

Sierra Madre teen-agers will have their first "Friday Night Fling" tomorrow night, July 21, at the Woman's clubhouse.

Bob Cass, chairman in charge, and Mary Ann Woehler, acting chairman, at a meeting held last Thursday night completed their plans for the dance which will have as its motif "Cords and Cotton."

A record player has been loaned by Dr. and Mrs. J. Stadden Miller and is being supplied with all the favorite records. Tickets are 32c plus 8c Federal tax and can be obtained from Bob Cass, Mary Ann Woehler, Joan Woehler, Jodie Cox, La Vonne Babbitt, Pete Merriman, Jackie LeFleur, Mike Goodwin, Jack Meter, Mike Castaneda and Mrs. Harold Drury. Tickets can also be purchased at the door. Dancing starts at 8 p.m. and lasts until midnight.

These every other Friday Night Flings are being sponsored by the Woman's Club with Mrs. Harold Drury and Mrs. J. Stadden Miller representing the club. However, success of the dances will be the result of youth initiative and effort.—GLEAM DRURY, Publicity Chairman.

Residents Here 43 Years Celebrate Golden Wedding

Married at Hugerton, Kans., on July 18, 1894, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Adelmeyer of 439 E. Highland ave., residents of Sierra Madre for 43 years, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary quietly at their home on Tuesday.

The young couple came to California in 1901 and shortly thereafter moved to Sierra Madre because of its healthful climate and matchless water supply. The city was in its swaddling clothes then. There were only two stores and a shoe repair shop. Mrs. Adelmeyer recalls. "There were not many houses and many people, especially those who had come out of the East for their health, were living in tents," she said.

Mr. Adelmeyer helped to develop the city by opening up and developing the streets, installing a drainage system and aiding in home construction and the planting of citrus orchards.

The Adelmeyers have three children, Raymond Adelmeyer of Honolulu, Harry of Monrovia and Mrs. Marie McArthur of this city. To help them celebrate the event were the daughter, Mrs. Marie McArthur, and the son, Harry of Monrovia with his wife, and daughter, and Mrs. Harry Adelmeyer's mother, Mrs. Moody of Monrovia. Mrs. Moody presented Mr. and Mrs. Adelmeyer with an elaborate angle-food wedding cake.

With Sierra Madre Boys and Girls In the Service

Sgt. Donald H. Jackson of the Marine Corps, son of Mrs. Gladys Jackson of 55 Auburn ave., wrote on July 6 from Saipan, stating that he is safe after 20 days at the front before surrender of the island. He adds that he will write to all his friends as soon as he has time.

Perry R. Kortkamp, S. 1/c, son of Perry Kortkamp of Park ave., has just been transferred from Wright College in Chicago to Del Monte, Calif., where he is continuing his schooling for Navy radio technician.

Francis Keegan Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winifred T. Bradley, 154 N. Mountain Trail ave., has arrived at and is receiving his initial Naval indoctrination at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. His "boot" training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill and general Naval procedure. During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruit to determine whether he will be assigned to a Naval service school or to immediate active duty at sea. His recruit training completed, the seaman will spend a period of leave at home.

ENVIABLE RECORD OF RED CROSS SURGICAL DRESSING SQUAD CAUSE FOR CELEBRATION

By DR. ARTHUR O. PRITCHARD

July 14 the surgical dressing department, under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Colligan, completed a year of service in the Sierra Madre chapter of Red Cross. This unit carries on its work as part of the surgical dressing quota of the Pasadena district rather than as an independent chapter activity, due to limited space and equipment. The group, however, has received high praise from the Pasadena chairmen for excellence of production both in quantity and quality.

In the year past 361 different individuals have participated in making three types of sponges allotted to the group. The total production has been 114,242 different dressings. Since the usual number of hours per week in which work is done has been only 20 and the average attendance rarely exceeds 25 people, this shows proficient work on the part of those volunteers who are the nucleus counted on to turn out finished, acceptable materials.

Mrs. Colligan and the 10 supervisors who took special training under the direction of the Pasadena group leaders have appreciated the cooperation of all who have found it possible to assist in production.

Mrs. E. G. Everett of the evening group, and Miss Gertrude Bailey of the day-time workers, are especially notable for the number and perfection of their product.

An hour roll of all excellent workers would be too long to print but mention should be made of the men who on Tuesday evenings especially have added much to the accomplishment. S. C. Straus, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, holds the record for any single evening's work. Mr. Straus is missed from the ranks at this time as illness has kept him away for some weeks. President R. C. Lewis and Edward L. N. Voorhees of the board of directors of Red Cross, are loyal members of the evening group, and show deft hands at work.

The fine administrative work

Wymans Return to Their Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wyman of 31 E. Mira Monte ave. have returned from Fontana and have again opened their home, the former Governor Merriam place. In the four months they were gone they were fortunate in being able to dispose of their Fontana holdings to advantage, and now are thinking forward to a winter garden and real living such as Sierra Madre citizens know.

Army Experts Puzzled by Weather

Air Force Meteorologists at Airfields Find the 1944 Brand Very Unusual

The unseasonably cool, foggy spring and early summer weather in Southern California coastal areas has been the most unusual in 60 years, according to the weather experts and their records, but the 1944 brand of weather in most of the western States has been equally queer, and puzzling to weather experts of the Army Air Force at the Army airfields and training camps, according to Sgt. George R. ("Russ") Lovejoy who is flying over the 11 western States with Army officers inspecting the flying fields and camps.

The unusual weather varies. In some areas it has been excessively hot over a long period, in others very unusually wet and in others cloudy and cold, even to the point of very late killing frosts. "The weather men everywhere say the sort they've been having for a couple of months is away off schedule," said Lovejoy.

"but they don't seem to be able to account for it—none of them." Stationed in Kansas for several weeks the young sergeant, who was home with his parents at their Grand View ave. home over the weekend, believes the people of the Middle West are more concerned about and interested in the war than folks out here on the coast. "They seem to have a better understanding of the situation back there than our folks out here do," he said. "They realize that there is a long, hard fight ahead and everyone has got to turn in and give a hand if we are to avoid a long-drawn-out war that will mean the unnecessary sacrifice of many thousands of lives and the expenditure of many more billions of dollars. There is not the indifference that one sees so much out here, where so many people seem content to let the other fellow discharge their obligations to their country."

"But it's a pretty grand experience after flying over the weary wastes of the South Pacific and the jungle islands to fly over our own wonderful country, war and what a very wonderful country it is. Nothing like it under the sun. No wonder the fellows are eager to fight for it."

of Mrs. Colligan and her genial, tactful handling of all situations has made the year not only profitable to the serious underraking in hand, but socially enjoyable to the workers. Her first assistant supervisor, Mrs. Woodson Jones, has given notable help, as have the corps of trained supervisors, including Miss Jean Grantham, Miss Clara Sykes, Mrs. R. A. Pratt, Mrs. E. C. Young, Mrs. R. D. Cordy, Mrs. Rudolph Galkin, Mrs. R. W. Newberry and Miss Martha Pritchard.

On Friday a birthday spirit pervaded the surgical dressing room at the local Red Cross when punch and cookies were served visitors and workers in honor of the day. During the morning interlude the group was informed by Mrs. Colligan that she could no longer act as chairman of the group as she has accepted a position on the staff of the Adobe pottery and can therefore not give as much time to surgical dressings as for the year past. Regret at losing Mrs. Colligan's leadership was expressed by all present but became further appreciation of her wisdom when she announced that her place would be taken by Mrs. R. A. Pratt, known to all as an able executive and worker. Mrs. Colligan will still participate in the evening groups as a supervisor and Mrs. Jones will continue as Mrs. Pratt's first assistant.

On Monday, July 17, a surprise luncheon in honor of Mrs. Colligan was given at the "Play-House" of General and Mrs. Edward Clinton Young, 31 E. Orange Grove ave. All the supervisors were hostesses and Gen. Young added much to the enjoyment of all with his willingness to share in the ladies' good time.

School Staff Signed for Next Year

City Singularly Fortunate in Being Able to Retain Experienced Teachers

Sierra Madre is one of the few California school districts fortunate enough to have a complete teaching staff signed up for the school year beginning in September. And it has been necessary to employ only one new teacher, it was announced yesterday. All teachers under contract here also hold regular State teaching credentials, although if schools generally are to have sufficient teachers for next year, a large number with war-emergency credentials only, will have to be accepted.

Unless unforeseen changes are necessary, the staff will be made up as follows: Henry F. Korsmeier, district superintendent; Hortense Wells, nurse and attendance supervisor; Sara Mae Butler, art; Mark Havenhill, industrial art; Alice Shook, domestic art and cafeteria manager; Wanda Weihs, music; Marie Tetreau, library.

Regular classroom teachers: Yveta A. Adams, Mabel R. Coupe, Ruth T. Gardner, George B. Kyle, Zayda F. Leonard, Florence Lusted, Dorothy E. Moore, F. Claire Newman, Betty Newton, Marie B. Olhasso, Mary Pfahler, Elizabeth Steinberger, Mary S. Wheeler, Helen W. Wones.

George B. Kyle, a new teacher and director of the summer recreation program, comes to Sierra Madre from Moorpark, Calif., where he has been teaching for the past year. He previously taught for three years at Brawley, after graduating from La Verne College. Mr. Kyle will teach eighth grade science and boys' physical education.

SIERRA MADRE MAN AND SANTA MONICA GIRL WED IN HAWAII AS LOCAL GIRL ACTS AS BRIDESMAID

Mrs. A. E. Pulling of 382 W. Montecito ave. is in receipt of a notice of the marriage of her son, Ronald Wilson Pulling, and Florence Dorothy Rooke in Hawaii on June 24. The ceremony was performed in St. Clement's Church by the Rev. D. E. Tanner Brown. The bride was given in marriage by John M. Beardslee, and Miss C. Burnaby Body (daughter of Dean and Mrs. Arnold G. H. Bode of 410 W. Montecito ave.) served as maid of honor, while Vernon D. Blank was best man.

For her gown, the bride chose a white afternoon dress, with a matching hat and lei of white pikake—flower traditional with Hawaiian brides. Miss Bode chose a white and coral crepe dress and carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Following the ceremony the happy couple were tendered a reception by Mr. Beardslee and Mrs. Ryan, hostess at the Brookland Hotel, to 50 guests, after which Mr. and Mrs. Pulling went to Hilo on the island of Hawaii for their honeymoon. Upon their return they took up residence at the Brookland Hotel.

Mrs. Pulling, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rooke of 336 Pico blvd., Santa

City Assessed Valuation Is Increased

Many Communities in Los Angeles County Show Marked Increase

Sierra Madreans will pay their 1944-45 city and county taxes on an assessed valuation of $2,689,725. With the probability that their tax bills will call for just a wee bit less than they paid during the last fiscal year.

Figures for the current year's assessment, subject to minor changes to be completed by mid-August, are slightly higher than a year ago. The supervisors believe the tax rate will be only a trifle under that for 1943-44.

Total of all valuations for the year for tangible property amounted to $2,641,045,375 after exemptions, as compared with $2,523,906,270 in the preceding year.

Most cities of the county showed gains, including Beverly Hills from $55,842,080 to $61,202,359; Glendale from $58,866,575 to $69,008,325; Long Beach from $128,221,405 to $145,804,880; Pasadena from $69,873,345 to $75,992,730; and Santa Monica from $47,625,425 to $48,951,455.

These figures do not represent the entire assessed value of Los Angeles county upon which the tax rates are predicated as they do not include the valuation of public utilities which are assessed by the State Board of Equalization.

Assessed valuations in eight San Gabriel Valley cities in addition to Sierra Madre are as follows: Alhambra, $29,470,945; Arcadia, $11,539,984; El Monte, $2,904,660; Monrovia, $7,121,840; Monterey Park, $4,344,270; San Gabriel, $9,174,775; San Marino, $16,825,050; South Pasadena, $9,937,680.

More Sierra Madre Boys in the Navy; Draft Call Out

Two more Sierra Madre boys, Lincoln Paschall, son of Mrs. Jack Paschall of Singing Wood dr., and Herbert Lacey are in the Navy now. Existing some time ago, they were called for service late last week. Lacey was sent to the Naval training station at San Diego. It is not yet known where Paschall was assigned.

Several Sierra Madreans have been ordered by the local draft board to report for physical examination in time for induction on July 28. At least one of them is the father of three children and well over 30 years old. He is employed in an essential industry. Names of those called will not be released by the draft board until the men are inducted.

No Sierra Madreans were included in the men called for induction July 12. Names of those who passed the physical for the July 18 call, if any, will be released for publication next week.

Fifth War Loan Bond Sales Here Known to Be Nearly $190,000

Just how much Sierra Madre oversubscribed its Fifth War Loan quota will not be known until it has received credit from the War Finance headquarters in Los Angeles, for all the allocations to which the local committee is entitled. The final checkup may not be completed for another week or 10 days.

Known subscriptions total $187,051. Of this amount $156,051 was invested through the Sierra Madre Savings Bank and somewhat more than $11,000 through postoffice sales. The local committee holds commitments of a little more than $20,000 not reported to the bank.

Summer—at Last

With less and less high fog during the week, the temperature has been climbing and Sierra Madre had a week of real summer weather, cool breezes making for comfort. Temperatures for the week have been:

	Max.	Min.
July 13	80	55
July 14	80	56

Departing Members of Thimble Club are Honored at Party

Mrs. Charles Cuddy of 658 Orange dr. and Mrs. Earl Topping were honored by the Canyon Thimble Club at a luncheon in the patio and on the terrace of the charming home of Mrs. Frank Cox of 251 Vista Circle on Friday. The occasion was the departure of the honor guests from Sierra Madre, Mrs. Cuddy making her new home in Los Angeles, and Mrs. Topping returning to Yerington, Nev., where Mr. Topping is employed. A surprise gift was presented to Mrs. Cuddy at the close of the luncheon, as the members of the club wished her happiness in her new home.

Gets Letter from the President

In a letter from the White House sent to Mrs. Harry Noake, 585 Manzanita ave., the President expressed his gratitude for the artistic scrapbooks she has so faithfully sent at regular intervals to Mr. Roosevelt's grandchildren. For some time now, Mrs. Noake has made these scrapbooks and sends them to crippled children in hospitals, schools, and homes all over the country.

The two motherless children of Horace Pipkin of W. Highland ave. have gone to the care of a brother of Mrs. W. H. Spillar in El Paso, Tex., where they are spending the summer in the mountains. Mrs. Spillar formerly resided at W. Montecito ave.

PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR LINVILLES

Mrs. P. B. Linville of 595 Vista Circle dr. was pleasantly surprised Thursday afternoon, July 13, when Edwin Emyart, PWA pilot who makes the regular tri-weekly run from Los Angeles to Albuquerque, called. He was accompanied by Mrs. Linville's sister, Mrs. J. C. Hewitt, and daughter, Mrs. William McIntyre, both of Los Angeles, and also by two girlhood friends of Mrs. Linville from Missouri, Mrs. Blanche Eckart and Miss Ethel Emyart.

The court found that Baldwin was not only a Nevada resident before and at the time the divorce was granted, but continued his residence in Reno afterward.

"Alien Corn" Coming to the Playhouse

Rare talents, like rare plants, find barren soil no ideal place for growth and beauty, according to Sidney Howard's hit drama, "Alien Corn," which comes to Pasadena Playhouse stage from July 28 to 30 as the fifth playbill in the current Midsummer Drama Festival series.

"Dodsworth," current Drama Festival attraction, closes its Playhouse run on Sunday, July 23.

Mrs. James Brazell of Oklahoma City, who has been visiting her twin sister, Mrs. Fannie Sea of 198 W. Montecito ave., has left to spend a few weeks at the Linda Linda sanitarium near Riverside. While here Mrs. Brazell and Mrs. Sea entertained at tea Sunday evening, July 16, Miss Betty Russ of Leopold, Belgium Congo, and Mr. and Mrs. McRae of N. Michillinda ave. Miss Russ was for several years in charge of an important hospital in the Congo, and was a fascinating guest.

Young People Home from Camp in the San Bernardinos

The Sierra Madre group of young people who have been at Camp Pilgrim Pines in the San Bernardino mountains came back Sunday evening radiant with the thrill of living in the great outdoors.

Among the 114 Southern California young people of the Congregational church those from Sierra Madre who attended were Vic Champlin, son of Mrs. Marguerite Champlin of 329 Auburn ave.; Gertrude and Fanning Oakley of Suffolk ave.; Carolyn Johnson, daughter of Arthur Johnson III of 154 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.; Doris and Grace Lawrence of E. Orange Grove ave.; Velma Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pickett of 201 W. Highland ave.; Joanne Finch of Adams st.; and Phyllis and Sylvia Young of Olivera lane.

Adult sponsors of the group from Sierra Madre included Rev. Frederic Groetsema and wife of 169 S. Baldwin ave. as director of religious activities and dean of girls, respectively; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bush of 220 N. Sycamore ave., who had charge of the music; Miss Margery Adams of 625 Auburn ave., camp nurse, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson of 71 Suffolk ave., who were counselors and had charge of the handicraft. Under the competent direction of these two, the Sierra Madre group brought home an altar cloth three by four feet in size, made in spatter work, of which they are justly proud.

Sierra Madreans at Army Actor's Party

Mrs. R. E. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kern of W. Alegria ave. were guests at a party given last week in honor of Sgt. Sterling Holloway at the home of his mother at 1707 Oak st., South Pasadena. Sgt. Holloway is at home recuperating from a strenuous 13 months' engagement as lead in the Army show "Hey Rookie," which has been playing on the front battle lines sometimes three or four times a day. The play had an eight months' run at the Belasco in Los Angeles before it was taken to the G. I. at the front. There it ran for seven weeks in the Cassino area in Italy, after it had been for 11 months in North Africa.

The remaining portion of Sgt. Holloway's unit has gone on to Burma. Before coming home he was hospitalized in Charleston, S. C., and in New York.

Prof. and Mrs. R. D. Millican of Las Cruces, N. M., are spending the summer with Mrs. Millican's father, Dr. L. M. Hurt of 721 W. Orange Grove ave. Prof. Millican spends most of his time commuting between Sierra Madre and the University of Southern California where he is taking work in his own field of economics and business administration, while Mrs. Millican (the former Mary Hurt) cares for a small son.

Miss Jeanette Carlson of 184 W. Montecito ave. entertained for the past week, Miss Elma Wintersgreen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wintersgreen, missionaries returned from Bolivia, South America, and residing in Los Angeles during their furlough.

Mrs. S. C. Strauf of 270 E. Alegria ave. entertained at dinner Saturday evening in honor of her husband who has been spending the past three weeks at the Veterans' Hospital at Santele. The guests were the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Talbot of E. Alegria ave., and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hempstead of Ramona ave. Mr. Strauf's co-workers at the Red Cross headquarters will be glad to learn that he anticipates an early return to his duties.

Boy Scout Training Course Attracts More Attention

Increasing numbers of parents and townspeople are attending the Boy Scout leadership meetings in Pritchard Hall at the Congregational Church on Tuesday evenings to learn, at first hand, the story of Scouting. The discussion Tuesday night was particularly interesting, relating to "The Boy" in Scouting.

"The nature of the boy" was presented by Luke Gervais, followed by a brief talk by Calvin Floyd, First Class Scout Troop 1, on what he thought of scouting. "It is your duty as parents of these Scouts," Calvin said, "to learn how your sons are trained. This leadership course is a fine thing. I certainly recommend it, and am sure that the other Scouts join me."

Boatswain's Mate Sea Scout Bruce Newbery instructed and entertained the audience with some intricate knot-tying. Henry Gregor, assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 3, spoke on "The Appeal of Scouting." Harry Lange outlined the fundamentals of "Patrol Organization." Clarence Huntsinger, Cub committeeman, reviewed the first meeting of the course, and Louis George explained "Troop Leadership."

Larry Appleford was made Senior Patrol Leader of the course, and Harry Lange assumed the role of Scoutmaster.—ALICE A. FLOYD, Publicity Chairman.

A Shameful Record

It is a tragic commentary on human carelessness that 30 per cent of all highway-railroad grade-crossing accidents last year resulted from passenger cars, motor buses, trucks or motorcycles crashing into the sides of trains. There were 937 accidents of this needless nature, which killed 236 persons and maimed 1400 others.

Even more graphic evidence of the heedless, headlong rush into disaster which characterized many of these accidents is found in the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission that 360 of the tragedies took place at crossings protected by lowered gates, watchmen, trainmen, or audible or visible signals.

More appalling still is that California led all the States in the United States in this type of accident, with 87 instances recorded here in which reckless motorists drove into the sides of trains, with violent death or critical injury as the penalty of their folly.

That shameful record certainly indicates that we should heed the signs—and Stop, Look and Listen! Ordinary observance of common-sense driving rules can put an end to almost all such accidents. And with so much of death and injury on the war-front, we just can't afford to add to the toll of human misery by such tragic carelessness on the home-front.

Something New

Have you heard of the Ladies Retail Volunteer Corps? Probably not, for as yet it exists only as a suggested plan. In the months to come, however, the L.R.V.C. may take its place along with the other patriotic activities which women are now conducting to help in the war effort. What is, or will be, the Ladies Retail Volunteer Corps? It will be composed of women who do not have to work through any financial necessity, but who are willing to serve on the home front by putting in a few hours a day in retail store sales work. All or part of their net salaries will be turned over to any charity they designate. Their service would not continue beyond the end of the war. Women of this organization will wear a simple uniform carrying the letters L.R.V.C. on the shoulder or arm to identify them as assisting in the present emergency. The public will know that they are not only giving their time to help in meeting civilian needs, but are also giving their earnings to the various charities.

The Volunteer Corps is expected to be developed on a local basis. It can readily be seen that many women of financial independence or social prominence who would not otherwise consider saleswork can now give their services through these local groups without hesitation. To them it will present a unique and interesting opportunity to meet the public from the other side of the counter.

They Fight for This

In these dramatic, history-making days when everybody is busy with war work and burdened with increased personal concerns, the obligation of every adult to exercise the voting franchise is even greater than in normal years.

Few among us could not find some other important job to be done on election day, precluding, perhaps, a visit to the polls. But none will fail to cast a ballot who stops to consider that the right to vote is one of the democratic blessings that our sons and brothers are fighting to maintain.

Even the comparative newcomer did not leave behind in his old community his responsibility to vote. Being away from home or from his previous place of registration is not a valid excuse for failure to fulfill this most important public duty.

To voters who will be in new communities and new precincts in November, the office of the Secretary of State is prepared to forward ballots on request. Such requests should be addressed to the Secretary of State, Sacramento, California; they should give the applicant's present address and the last home address where he was previously registered. Ballots will be returned to qualified applicants by November 2, enabling voters to participate in the presidential, congressional and local elections in November.

When men of other lands are dying for the precious right of self-government, and men of this nation are laying down their lives as well as to help preserve it here, the voting franchise ceases to be a privilege to regard lightly and accept only if nothing more interesting intervenes. It becomes a solemn and sacred duty to be fulfilled by every adult American.

Sounds Good

There has been much speculation about postwar trade possibilities but little that rings with the authenticity of the report by Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States who reports from Moscow that the Soviet government plans huge purchases of U. S. goods at the conclusion of the war. From Mr. Johnston's report it is assumed that the Russians are prepared to buy many billions of dollars' worth of American goods at the end of the war. This report is encouraging to American manufacturers who have been somewhat dubious about what their export position will be after the war. The needs of the global war have spread the fame of American manufactured goods throughout the world. This promises dividends in future business that will undoubtedly play a large part in our postwar economy.

This reminds us of the historic trade made with Russia just 77 years ago when William Seward, Secretary of State, signed a paper by which the United States paid Russia $7,200,000 for undeveloped and—what seemed to many—worthless territory of Alaska. In fact, so little faith did Americans at large have in the future of this new territory that it became known as "Seward's Folly."

Today, Alaska's salmon industry alone grosses annually $35,000,000 in round figures, while the value of the fish in which the salmon is packed has exceeded $6,000,000 in one year.

Dean A. G. H. Bode

TO continue our notes on the islands of the Pacific, we cannot help thinking of what the war has done. While it has brought out the heroism of "fuzzy-wuzzy angels," and shown their skill as scouts and their limitless kindness as stretcher-bearers, it has taken a terrible toll in devastated areas. It means whole villages wiped out; coconut palms destroyed by thousands; produce of native gardens stolen, and no seed to re-establish their taro, banana and sweet potato plantations; canoes, nets and fishing gear destroyed; acres of sago palms destroyed or used as roofing for Army buildings; grassland burnt off for airfields; wild mulberry trees which provide tapa cloth for clothing, and forests where animals were hunted for meat, raided and destroyed by fire, and no trees at hand with which to replace the lost canoes. Many natives have lost everything.

THIS arouses our sympathy and our hopes that all will be made good to them again. The Atlantic Charter is taken seriously there, especially article 6, which reads: "They (the nations) hope to see established a peace which will accord to all nations the means of dwelling in safety within their own boundaries, and which will afford assurance that all the men in all the lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want." The charter, rightly interpreted, also provides that no nation or individual shall seek "aggrandizement" in land, money or power, at the expense of the island peoples, as was done in a bare-faced and ruthless manner for over a hundred years. The rights and interests of the natives who have been so good to us will dictate their return to their home districts to establish their houses and replant their gardens. Our part when possible will be to help them to be progressive villagers, and while disturbing as little as possible the social structure of their lives, to teach them to develop their lands and their interests to the best advantage.

SOME will be heard to say, "What we have won from the enemy is ours to do with as we like." But the real question is not of territory but of human beings. They are not ours to do with as we like. And their chief security, if they are not to be serfs of the white man, lies in the ownership and development of their own farms—"every man under his vine and every man under his fig tree and none to make him afraid," which is an ancient way of expressing freedom from want and fear. The missionaries strove for this result from French, German, English and American protectors.

THE same ideals are followed in the Gold Coast where a cousin of mine is the Governor, where no land of the natives may be bought by the white man, and where the natives hold responsible positions as commissioners and advisers, and where the natives, who provide half the world's cocoa, were protected from exploitation by the cocoa interests. Van Loon, who wrote a history of the Pacific, thought that when some natives, who used to travel hundreds of miles in canoes, fighting and capturing island after island, killing and head-hunting, finally settled down in peace and prosperity on a fertile shore, they lost all incentive and fell into decay as a race. But now the finest characters among the natives, as soon as they become educated Christians, have a new incentive and sail hundreds of miles to help other islanders, teaching simple religion and kindness, educating in agriculture, and bringing medical help, and with the help of able missionaries, forming a new civilization.

THE Times of London, which is not given to overstatement, has recently printed the following: "The modern missionary is often a man and more often a woman of affairs. The idea that he is likely to be a narrow and somewhat foolish fanatic has vanished. The great missionary organizations are of international importance. Their leaders are consulted by statesmen, and their advice is not without influence on public policy. The sympathy of missionaries with native races and their knowledge are of obvious value to officials (meaning governors and administrators and colonial secretaries). It will probably help in the reconstruction after the war if we can spread a sympathetic understanding of the mind of the native. He has a philosophy of life which is different from ours, as the Mexican's is, and the Chinese, according to Lin Yu Tang. Some critics accuse the native of want of incentive and of idleness. This is unjust. The native could reply: 'You buy clothes that others made, you import your food, you pay others to do everything for you; they build your house and mend your boat, and then you call me idle when I work at everything; I make my clothes, get up early and grow my food, build my own house, make my own canoe, my tools, my fishing and hunting gear; I go out and hunt my meat, and move around the villages doing all sorts of community tasks that you would never do, and which you never notice.'

A FRIENDLY observer says: "The chief fault of the native, from the white man's point of view, is really his greatest excellence. He is so simple in his habits and mode of life that he does not care to toil and mull for those things that other people value. He is content with his own plain living, and cannot see why at a stranger's bidding he should leave all he loves to face hardship, unaccustomed food, a master with a capricious temper, loss of liberty, and work which is always too severe for his constitution. When taken to the white man's country, the islanders cannot stand the hours of work and changes of climate, and the reproach against the trade is that it kills four Kanakas to one white man. The native knows his own capabilities better than his critics do. He has acres and acres of ground at the food gardens carefully cultivated by means of wooden digging sticks, and clever irrigation systems." He is not lazy. His system is different. He would not like to work on an assembly line at nut 48 on a Ford. But the native can learn our trades and loves to work when he has an object. He can absorb our culture and our music. The villagers built a cathedral with the help of one white man. His capacity to learn is limited only by our ability to teach.

IT seems that it is in kindness that the Christian native excels. There is a story of a wounded doughboy in the jungle grass, lying for two or three days in the blazing sun, and longing for water. At last in despair and perhaps delirium he cries out something about his mother believing in God, and if there is a God wouldn't He send him water. And it happened that a Christian native was going about carrying water and helping any wounded he could find, and the soldier heard some words in the soft speech of the Papuan, "See, I'm here. I bring water. God is here." The soldier drinks, help is summoned, a life is saved. It can be said of these natives, in the words of the Bible: "And God said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them, and they shall be my people and I will be their God."

I SEE WHERE

It's reported that every Allied fighting man landed on the French invasion coast requires an average of 81 tons of supplies to keep him there for a month. With most of the supplies wrapped in paper, the expression "only a scrap of paper" is as outmoded as an isolationist plank in a national party platform. In an intensive effort to overcome the most pressing war material supply problem of the moment, the War Production Board is currently launching a countrywide waste paper campaign based on a model salvage-collection system recently put into effect with impressive results in the world's tallest skyscraper. Organized on a floor-by-floor, office-by-office basis, a 30-day test drive in the Empire State Building in New York recently sent 238,685 pounds of waste to war, an amount almost 100 per cent in excess of normal monthly collections. Pacing the excess contributions of the tenants were the 14½ tons collected from the offices of one concern, sufficient to provide 58,000 extra blood plasma containers or 188,500 additional containers for Army field rations.

State labor moguls, according to have started to raise a $400,000 campaign fund to fight that bitterly controversial "right-to-work" amendment! This in addition to the huge fund already being spent in an effort to defeat legislative and Congressional candidates who have refused to take orders from certain labor leaders.

THINGS TO COME—A new flavor for confections, "bitter-sweet" rose cream. A new lightweight carbon paper, for noiseless typewriters. More cherry pie for everyone this year. Growers in the 11 sour-cherry producing States are harvesting a record crop of 112,000 tons.

"Yes, we know there's a war on

-and we're not forgetting it."

"Like all other American business, we in banking face a multitude of problems in these times of war. The ever-increasing shortage of manpower and materials, the rising cost of doing business, and the frequent changes in governmental regulations, present problems which must be met and solved.

"As community bankers, we are meeting these problems—and with the cooperation of other local bankers throughout the country, we are solving our problems as they arise."

If the war has brought new problems to you, bring them to us. In the same spirit of friendliness and mutual cooperation which has built this community, we shall endeavor to help you in every way possible.

NEW BLOW AT RAIL TRAVEL

ODT Broadens Roads' Rights To Cancel Reservations

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation (ODT) today broadened the cancellation powers of the Nation's railroads in a move designed to help the carriers in their plans for handling military casualties.

The new ODT action provides for cancellation of reservations, space for assignments or tickets, and permits the railroads to require passengers to vacate space and accommodations when necessary to provide room for disabled military, naval and Merchant Marine personnel.

In addition, the railroads are required, when necessary, to divert transportation facilities or to cancel or discontinue passenger train service and to refuse permission to passengers, other than military, to board passenger trains.

ODT Director J. Monroe Jones advised...

We want you to be forewarned

As you may have read in the newspapers, the Office of Defense Transportation has given the railroads authority to take train space from civilian passengers at any time, to make room for wounded service men.

We sincerely hope that people planning trips not essential to the war effort will cancel their plans so that more room will be left on trains, and so make it unnecessary to take these drastic steps. We are going to take care of these wounded men first. They come first with us, and we believe they come first with you. But we and other railroads would dislike very much to cancel reservations at the last minute, or to make people already on trains give up their space.

The invasion of Europe has started, and how great the toll of wounded will be nobody knows. We have our wounded from the Pacific coming in too. And more and more cars must be taken for them from the restricted amount of equipment left after the regular military requirements are met.

We cannot guarantee that if you start a trip you will be able to get space returning. You must face that fact. If you're away from home on a pleasure trip and emergency space cancellations must be made, you may have great difficulty getting back.

For some time we have been urging people not to travel except on essential business. We haven't enjoyed doing this. For many years we have been trying to promote travel, and it "goes against the grain" to suggest that people stay off the trains. The very fact that we have issued these appeals should indicate the seriousness of the travel situation. And the new ODT order emphasizes this still more.

Why don't we provide more cars, more trains? Virtually no new cars can be built during war time. Materials are scarce, and car builders have been making guns and tanks and other war equipment. With the biggest army and navy in our history, about 63% of all Pullman sleeping cars have to be used exclusively for military service. Travel by men in uniform on furlough, or traveling on orders, plus the greatly increased volume of business travel due to the war production effort, taxes the capacity of the remaining equipment used in regular passenger train service. There are no more passenger cars available. We must get along with what we have.

We have now reached the point where there just isn't room on our trains for people who don't have to travel.

People planning a vacation or other non-essential trip may think "There's always room for one more."

Well, there isn't.

If you are planning a train trip not essential to the war effort, we strongly advise you to change your plans, now.

A letter from Pfc. Raymond Sanchez to his brother, Massy Sanchez of 163 N. Grove st., tells of his experience in the French invasion area. "I've got me a foxhole deep enough to bury a cow, so don't worry," he wrote. He said the K rations are better than the boys expected. "People in France give us wine and candy along the road, but we can't understand the darn things they say," he adds. Ray was in the division that captured 2000 Germans in France and was in the battle of Cherbourg. He has been overseas for about five months.

Pvt. Edmund Blakeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford F. S. Blakeman of 117 E. Grand View ave., arrived at Camp Butler, N. C., last week after being home

In a recent letter received by his brother, he mentioned meeting one Sierra Madrean, Guy Scott, on a transport from New Caledonia.

Word comes from Pvt. George N. Babbitt, 304 W. Sierra Madre blvd., that he is now stationed in Amarillo, Tex., has started his basic training which he likes, regardless of the extreme heat, thunder and mud, but misses his Sierra Madre pals and home. His address is: Pvt. George N. Babbitt, 1920737, 3701 Basic Unit, Sect. 3, Flight 108C, Amarillo A.A.F., Amarillo, Tex.

Mrs. Eber Thomas of 823 Canyon Crest dr. has just received her first letter from her son, 2nd Lt. Robert E. Thomas since he arrived in New Guinea. He recounted that he had been able to get a telephone message through to his brother Marvin Thomas, AMM 2/c, who is in the Gilbert Islands, and reported they are both in fine fighting trim.

As many of his friends here surmised in the absence of word from him, Dr. Lee M. Evans (Capt. L. M. Evans of the Army Medical Corps to you) was with the invading army in Normandy on D-Day. A letter received from him over the weekend said it was a wonderful, but frightful experience. Little had been heard from him since he left Yuma, Ariz., in December. He went across from a New York training camp early in 1944 and was in an American camp in England until embarking for the invasion. The transport in which the outfit he accompanied crossed the channel lay off the Normandy coast for two days before the landing began.

Ask the Professor

By H. F. Noake

Dear Professor:
Who came to the rescue of our beloved country in its darkest hour?
Ans.: Edison.

Dear Professor:
Is it really a fact that eternal vigilance is the price of Liberty?
Ans.: The price of Liberty, far as a know, is still a nickel.

SINCE the war began, nearly everything has gone up in price. The costs of food, clothing, housing and other commodities have soared skyward... some already have increased as much as 40%... and are going still higher!

Probably the only living cost that has not increased is electricity. The cost of electricity has actually gone down about 50% since World War I! Right now, electric rates are at the lowest figure in history. In spite of steadily rising prices and the great demand for electric power to meet war production needs, your dollar buys more Edison electricity today than ever before.

Health?

● Health is worth more than all our material assets heaped together. Don't take chances with it. And don't expect to get it back at cut-rate prices! If your health isn't what it should be—if you're a bit under par—go at once to a good Physician—the best you can find. And then carefully follow his considered counsel. One of his first suggestions may be to bring his prescription here for compounding!
